

Biography of Equetta Jones

Equetta Jones is an educator, advocate, and parent who currently serves as the Assistant Principal of Highlands Elementary School in Wilmington, Delaware. She has the firm belief that every child deserves a Booster Club no matter their ability, background, or socioeconomic status. Equetta has worked her way up the educational ladder having served as a bus aide, paraprofessional, substitute, classroom teacher and currently a Vice Principal. She often shares her story with parents and students who feel that all hope is lost. Equetta was named an NAESP National Outstanding Assistant Principal of the Year by the Delaware Association of School Administration in 2018.
