

Dr. Shanna Spickard Biography

Shanna Spickard, Ed.D., has served in education since 1997 and has been a middle school principal since 2005. Shanna is an active member of MEMSPA (past president) and NAESP (state rep). In addition, Shanna speaks around the state and country on education leadership topics. Her education includes a doctorate and specialist in education leadership, a master's degree in communication, and two bachelor's degrees in both education and communication. In addition to serving as Milan Middle School Principal in Milan, Michigan, she is a graduate adjunct professor at Concordia University-Ann Arbor, and an NAESP Nationally Certified Mentor, Trainer, and Coach.